Outline of Area served:

Island County Including Whidbey Island and Camano Island.

Current and Anticipated Service Trends:

The Island Transit service area is fixed as the area of Island County. What are expected to change with future county growth are the number of routes and the frequency of buses on those routes. Like-wise, Island transit is continuously adding to its connections with adjacent transit systems to provide better service beyond Island County. Growth in the number of routes and buses operated will include facility expansion. As transit usage and customer dependence grows, Island Transit must plan for service disruptions from all types of hazards, emergency response, and rapid service restoral.
