COMMUNITY COLLABORATION

Community leaders and government officials can work with schools to create a VIOLENCE PREVENTION PLAN. Work with law enforcement officers, youth groups, health care professionals, and other community members to help build and maintain a positive living environment for youth where they can feel safe and respected.

PARENTS

Parents can help reduce violence by:

- Talking to your child about how to resolve arguments without violence or weapons.
- Monitoring the media your child is allowed to watch; don't watch violent movies or TV shows, or play violent video games; limit the amount of screen time to 2 hours a day.
- Be a role model in handling situations in a nonviolent way.
- Teach your child how to handle anger and build positive relationships.<sup>1</sup>

Parents who own guns can be sure that:

- You talk to your child about gun safety.
- All guns are locked up and unloaded.
- Ammunition is locked separately from the gun.
- Your child or their friends are not allowed access to your gun without supervision.
- The gun is removed from your home if anyone is depressed or suicidal.

SCHOOLS

Schools can help prevent abuse and violence by:

- Teaching kids how to build and maintain proper relationships.
- Role model positive coping skills.
- Have and enforce anti-bullying and violence policies.
- Provide a safe and welcoming environment for all students.
- Learn and teach conflict resolution strategies to youth.<sup>2</sup>

GOVERNMENT

LOCAL OFFICIALS CAN strengthen and enforce existing policies on the minimum legal drinking age and zero tolerance laws.

- Support community outreach programs that educate on bullying and cyber-bullying laws.

YOUTH

- Never drink and drive.
- Never ride with someone who has been drinking.
- Wear a seatbelt on every trip, no matter how short.
- Obey speed limits.
- Never use marijuana and operate a motor vehicle or ride in a car with someone who has been using marijuana
- If you feel like you are in an unsafe or unhealthy relationship, talk to your school counselor or a trusted adult
