BACKGROUND & HISTORY

REGIONAL TRANSPORTATION PLANNING ORGANIZATIONS

Regional Transportation Planning Organizations (RTPOs) form through the voluntary association of local governments within a county or geographically contiguous counties to conduct regional transportation planning and programs. RTPO members include cities, counties, the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT), tribes, ports, transportation service providers, private employers, and others. Each RTPO has specific duties as assigned by RCW 47.80.023 (see Program Requirements section). The purpose of RTPOs is to coordinate transportation planning among regional jurisdictions and develop a regional transportation plan aimed at solving transportation issues of mutual interest and concern.

RTPOs provide a platform for WSDOT to communicate and coordinate with Local Agencies. The planning documents that are created by the Metropolitan and Regional Transportation Planning Organizations provide vital information and are used as a basis for WSDOT planning efforts both in the Northwest Region and statewide.

ISLAND RTPO STRUCTURE

The Island RTPO (IRTPO) is an association formed in 2016 between WSDOT, municipal corporations, and other interested parties in Island County, Washington. The organization's region coincides with the boundaries of Island County. The mission of the IRTPO is to work collaboratively to address multi-modal transportation issues within and across the Island Region (and beyond).

This Unified Planning Work Program (UPWP) is adopted annually in association with WSDOT, and serves as the IRTPO's budget and work program.

(See Appendix A for membership information)

ELEMENT 2 (E2): MULTIMODAL PLANNING

PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES

Island RTPO plays an important role in meeting federal and state requirements to implement and coordinate the region’s transportation planning activities. Washington State has six transportation planning priorities that are addressed in this section: economic vitality, preservation, safety, mobility, environment, and stewardship. As the lead agency, Island County has directed its Public Works Department to provide management and staff support for the regional transportation planning process. Transportation planning by nature is a long-term process. As the IRTPO and regional needs continue to evolve, Island County strives to ensure coordination of planning and implementation by all transportation interests and member agencies. This work coincides with strategic action items for collaborative coordination and planning identified in Island Access 2040: Regional Transportation Plan for the Island Region.

As IRTPO does not employ tracking, analysis, or modeling, much of this work will be done by consultants and member agencies, with a goal of establishing a comprehensive, shared database and base model. In the long-term, IRTPO may work toward establishing a regional travel demand model for use by all member agencies. This work coincides with strategic action items for data collection and evaluation identified in Island Access 2040: Regional Transportation Plan for the Island Region.

PROGRAM FUNDING DESCRIPTIONS

WSDOT RTPO GRANTS

The State of Washington allocates funds to all RTPOs to assist them in performing the activities mandated by RCW Section 47.80.023. There is no local match requirement for these funds.

SURFACE TRANSPORTATION BLOCK GRANTS

Surface Transportation Block Grants (STBG) are federal funds available to state and local agencies for projects that preserve and improve the transportation system, consistent with regional priorities. These funds are allocated to Island RTPO for regional project prioritization and selection. STBG funds require at 13.5% local or state agency match.

ISLAND COUNTY FUNDS

When possible, IRTPO planning efforts are funded by federal and state grant sources. The Island County Roads Division fund is used to cover unfunded program expenses and also provides matching funds for IRTPO-specific grants requiring local match.

OTHER

The IRTPO, as an agency, was awarded federal funds for an Island Region Vehicle Electrification Study. These funds were assigned as part of the region-wide competitive call for projects, rather than from the federal RTPO planning funds.
